Upon login, the user gets directed to the 'Shelves' area of the knowledgebase.
These are the categories of the contents that we set up in place to divide all the documentations in logical containers, categorized by area of interest.

The categories that are visible to a user do already take into consideration the user's role, so each user will only see sections and documents that are relevant to them.

Clicking one of the section will let you navigate to the books that are cointained in that specific section.

The first kind of layout that is presented, is a grid format of the categories, this can be changed to a list format.
